

CREW ... or Passenger?

As radical a thought as it seems, our planet is actually a self-contained and self-sufficient space ship. It is rocketing through space in a continuous orbit around the sun. It has its own heating, cooling, water supply, food supply, electricity and oxygen supply for its passengers .... us! Over 6 billion of us.

Now, there are those who are seated in first-class, enjoying all the best the craft has to offer. The best food, wines, seats and service. Others travel business class, having a better life than most, all paid for with the expense accounts. Yet the majority are in economy class, having reasonable meals, accommodation, basic service, sitting watching a few movies and enjoying the ride before they have to alight and make way for others. We all get to go around on this orbit about 70 times ... before we get bumped off!

However, there is another class. These are the two billion, or one-third, who are placed in the baggage area, out of sight and out of mind. They have no good food, water, blankets, soap, medicine, air conditioning, movies, service. It is a very tough ride for them, and there is no way to have access even to economy class. These are those who we term; developing countries. Poor sods!

Now, those up in first-class think they have full control and have it all ... but they ride on the exact same space ship, and they only get to look out the side windows, like everyone else. They have no control of the ship, and do not see where it is going. They just have a more cushy ride.

The best class and the ONLY class to be in, is CREW! They sit up front, set the direction, control all the food, provisions, do all the organising, set the standards, tell us where to sit, what to do, when to do it. Being Crew is far better than first class, better than having a cushy seat and drinking fine wine.

Global Flying Hospitals invites you to come onboard and become CREW ... and not simply be a passenger. Take control and be part of those who are transforming our sick spaceship ... so we can all ride in comfort and live our 70 plus orbits in joy, health and peace. We need crew to move those in the baggage compartment to a more acceptable level. Only crew can do this.

We need crew to take control and set new standards on this spaceship ... because frankly, those who are crew at this moment are not doing such a good job!

Become CREW ... its much better than being a passenger only!
